

+PLUS PATHWAYS SOCIAL SCIENCES

A unique added value opportunity

Overview

- Multi-disciplinary approach to understanding the HOW and WHY of human behavior
- Maximize your interest or requirements to demonstrate your extensive knowledge of human interaction
- Of special interest to students in psychology, social work, political science, health professions, law, business, education, the creative arts and communication

Why +PLUS Social Sciences?

- Students will have a multi-disciplinary approach to the HOW and WHY of human behavior
- Students develop a breadth of understanding of the intellectual, emotional, social, political, cultural and economic features of human interaction
- Graduates with a +PLUS in Social Science demonstrate an extensive awareness of the complexity of human behavior

Explore your World of Opportunity

- Local service learning opportunities enhance the practical application of your coursework
- Experience working locally or abroad with a professional internship
- Daemen offers exciting and affordable study-abroad options, including a year, semester, summer or January term in Africa, Asia, the Caribbean, Europe or Latin America
- Spend a semester in our nation's capital with the Washington Internship Institute

Career Options

- Professional internships and clinical experiences will be enhanced
- With academic and experiential courses in several social sciences, graduates will be poised for admission to graduate programs or employment in health care, business and education in the private sector, governmental and non-profit agencies
- Graduates are prepared to work with a diverse population in the US and globally

Learn more...

Dr. Denise Mills, Coordinator of Integrated Programs, dmills@daemen.edu

a WORLD of OPPORTUNITY

4380 Main Street,
Amherst, NY 14226-3592
800-462-7652 | www.daemen.edu

+PLUS Social Sciences coursework

The +PLUS in Social Sciences requires SEVEN courses (21 credits)

- Coursework must be from at least three of the following different disciplines: Anthropology, Economics, Geography, Linguistics, Political Science, Psychology, Sociology, Women's Studies
- No more than three courses in any one discipline
- Only one course with a HST/WST rubric permitted. HST/WST approved courses include: HST/WST 215 Introduction to Women's Studies, HST/WST 216 Women's Worlds: Global Issues in Women's Studies, HST 331 Research Methods & Historiography,
- AP credit in American Government or Psychology may be applied to the +PLUS Social Science

